

Arthur Reiger

Director—Learning Services, DeakinPrime

Arthur Reiger is the Director of Learning Services at DeakinPrime. DeakinPrime, the corporate education arm of Deakin University, is a pioneer and leader in the development of corporate education partnerships with organisations in Australia, reaching over 50,000 people in work each year.

Arthur is accountable for the design, development and production of all learning products and services contracted with DeakinPrime's clients. His directorate covers five distinct, cross-functional teams, namely, Design and Development (all media), Publishing and Production, Quality Practice and Knowledge, Product Management and Information Technology.

Arthur has contributed to most key project teams since joining DeakinPrime, including the defence and finance portfolios.

As a member of the DeakinPrime Leadership Team, Arthur contributes to strategic direction and orientation toward delivering client growth.

Prior to his appointment as Director, Learning Services in 2007, Arthur was the Learning Resources Manager at DeakinPrime.

Before joining DeakinPrime in 2006, Arthur's career spanned secondary teaching and teacher education before moving into the corporate sphere.

Curriculum development and assessment were particular areas of focus. Arthur managed the national learning group for a major Australian telecommunications company before moving to a General Manager role in Human Resources Shared Services, where he gained extensive experience in implementing change management initiatives.

Arthur has qualifications in arts and education and instructional design.

Arthur is married with six children and lives in Mont Albert, Victoria.
